Amended and Restated Bylaws
of
Clay County Rural Telephone Cooperative, Inc. (dba) Endeavor Communications
Article II
Membership

Section 1: Eligibility . Any person, firm, sole proprietorship, partnership, association, corporation, limited liability company, limited liability partnership, or body politic or subdivision thereof is eligible to become a member of the Corporation, unless services are being purchased for wholesale or resale purposes; upon receipt of telecommunications services from the Corporation. Each member shall:

- a. Make a written application for membership;
- b. Agree to purchase telephone service from the Corporation in accordance with Article II, Section 4;
- c. Agree to comply with and be bound by the provisions of the Amended and Restated Articles of incorporation (the "Articles of Incorporation") and the Amended and Restated Bylaws (the "Bylaws") of the Corporation, and any rules and regulations adopted by the Board of Directors (as defined in Article III, Section 1); and
- d. Pay the membership fee, if any that may be required. No member or related entity may hold more than one membership in the Corporation.

Section 2. Definitions and Classifications.

- a. The Corporation recognizes two classes of members or memberships: (i) individual members or memberships; and (ii) joint members or memberships. No member may hold more than one membership in the corporation. No membership in the Corporation shall be transferable, except on the books of the Corporation and as provide by these bylaws.
- b. Memberships in the Corporation are extended only to individual persons (natural or corporate) who meet the requirements of Section 1 of this Article. Joint memberships may be issued by the Corporation to husbands and wives who reside in the same household and who otherwise meet the eligibility criteria of Section 1 of this article upon request in writing from both husband and wife. Thus, the term "member" and "membership" as used in these bylaws shall refer to an individual and individual membership, but can be deemed to include a joint member of joint membership held by a husband and wife. Any provisions relating to the rights and liabilities of an individual membership shall apply equally with respect to the holders of joint membership. A joint membership held by a husband and wife shall be considered a single membership in the Corporation and does not afford joint members any additional rights or obligations except as expressly stated in Section 2c below.
- c. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, the effect of the hereinafter specified actions by or in respect of the holders of joint membership shall be as follows:
 - i. The presence at a meeting of either or both shall be regarded as the presence of one member and shall continue a joint waiver of notice of the meeting;
 - ii. The vote of either, separately or both jointly, shall constitute one joint vote;
 - iii. A waiver of notice signed by either or both shall constitute a joint waiver;
 - iv. Notice to either shall constitute notice to both;
 - v. Expulsion of either shall terminate the joint membership;
 - vi. Withdrawal of either shall terminate the joint membership;
 - vii. Either, but not both, may be elected or appointed as an officer of Board member if individually qualified;
 - viii. Upon the death of either spouse who is a party to the joint membership, such membership shall be converted to an individual membership. However, the estate of the deceased shall not be released from any debts due the Corporation;
 - ix. Either, but not both, shall pay a membership fee;
 - x. Either shall have access to their account and billing information concerning services provided by the Corporation; and
 - xi. Both shall share a single capital account with the Corporation.
